

CAR WASH GOING UP

A new Capin's Automatic Car Wash is scheduled to be built at 3700 E. Speedway with construction starting Monday. Samuel Capin, president of Capin Enterprises Inc., which is building the car wash, said today the total investment will represent approximately $250,-

000. He added that it will be as large as any car wash in the country, incorporating the newest innovations in car washing. Another Capin's Automatic Car Wash is located at 730 E. Broadway.

ALL THREE HELD

Priest Read Prayerbook While Boys Threw Eggs

COCHRAN, Ga.—A Catholic priest and three youths faced trial on charges of throwing eggs for fun at other motorists on a busy highway.

But the youths insist the 24-year-old priest was reading his prayerbook in the station wagon in which they were riding and didn't know what was going on.

The four were released on $500 bond each yesterday after spending 24 hours in the Bleckley County jail on charges of assault and battery.

Sheriff Gus Guddens said truck driver Edwin A. Garrett of Atlanta complained an egg thrown from the station wagon broke the side window vent on his truck, showering him with glass and inflicting arm and facial cuts.

The sheriff identified the four as Rev. Mitchell Jarlath Burke and three 17-year-olds Wayne H. Wilford, Paul R. Beavin Jr., and Edward J. Maurer Jr.

Burke is on the staff of the St. Thomas Moore Church in Decatur. All four live in that Atlanta suburb.

The sheriff said when the four were arrested at a Cochran drugstore three full cartons of eggs and three empty cartons were found in the station wagon.

"The priest said he was reading all the while and knew nothing about the egg throwing," the sheriff said.

Wilford said, "Father Burke was sitting in the middle seat, reading his prayer book. He didn't even know what was going on."

The father of one of the three boys, Paul R. Beavin Sr., said, "Of course we are deeply ashamed of the incident and we want to make restitution. . . . The boys are being disciplined."

He said he had deprived his son of driving privileges.

Burke told newsmen special permission would have to be obtained from the church bishop before he could issue a statement.

Bishop Francis Hyland, head of the Catholic diocese of Atlanta, said, "I have no comment to make on that."

The four are scheduled to appear in court in September.

The sheriff quoted the youths as saying they were "just having fun" when asked about the egg throwing.

"It was kind of dangerous fun," the sheriff said.

Child, 5, Poisons Dad, Just Minding Her Mom

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—UPI—A five-year-old girl who allegedly fed her father a fatal quantity of poisoned vitamin pills was simply minding her mother, the mother told police.

Mrs. Carolyn Sally Britton, 26, admitted yesterday that she mixed strychnine pills with the vitamin pills she had trained her daughter, Rita, to distribute every night at bedtime. The slender, brunette farm wife said she kept a close watch to see that the child gave only her father the poisoned pills. She said she could distinguish the strychnine pills from the vitamins by moistening them. The strychnine tended to fade a little in color.

Mrs. Britton said her husband, Roy Richmond Britton, 31, got two doses of the poison capsules within a few hours on the night of May 22 and early on the morning of May 23.

He died hours after the last dose. Authorities searched his 160-acre farm near Bloomington, Ind., after an autopsy report showed traces of strychnine and found the poisoned pills.

Mrs. Britton readily admitted the poisoning when confronted by authorities. She accused her husband of being "mean" to her, the children and farm animals.

Authorities, who said the attractive housewife had a record of mental illness, held her on involuntary manslaughter charges pending a grand jury probe.

Following her admission in the slaying of her husband, Mrs. Britton, dressed casually in pedal pushers and a sleeveless blouse, took a lie test, the results of which were not revealed.

Police are now checking into the mysterious circumstances surrounding the death of Mrs. Britton's 2-year-old daughter in 1958. The 2-year-old daughter, Rita, staying with grandparents in a city near Bloomington, has not yet been questioned by police.

Authorities said records showed that Mrs. Britton had spent some time in La Rue Carter Hospital at Indianapolis and at the Evansville, Ind., state hospital. They said she was apparently suffering from a persecution complex.

H. ALBERT MCEVOY

Tucson Bank Names New President

H. Albert McEvoy, member of an Arizona pioneer banking family, has been named president of the Bank of Tucson.

The announcement was made by John F. Chiappetta, chairman of the board of directors.

The appointment is effective immediately. McEvoy, who has been president of the First National Bank of South Gate, Calif., succeeds G. T. Smothers, the Bank of Tucson's first president.

McEvoy organized the South Gate bank in 1959 after serving as vice president of the First National Bank of Holbrook, Ariz.

He was born in New Mexico, but attended schools in Holbrook and entered the banking business after being discharged from the Army Air Corps in 1945.

His formal education includes business courses at Drury College, Springfield, Mo., as an Air Force cadet and graduation from the Pacific Coast Banking School at the University of Washington, Seattle, in 1951.

McEvoy was employed in 1945 as an assistant cashier in the Holbrook bank and moved to the position of vice president in 1951. He resigned from the Holbrook post to organize the South Gate institution.

Of the new appointment, Chiappetta said, "McEvoy's broad experience in all fields of commercial banking operations will be a great asset to the continued growth of the Bank of Tucson. He is highly regarded in the banking industry."

McEvoy is a former member of the executive council of the Arizona Bankers' Assn. and served on Holbrook City Council both as a councilman and mayor. He is also a past president of the Holbrook Chamber of Commerce and a director of the Inland Western Loan Co., Phoenix.

The 38-year-old civic leader also managed time to coach Little League baseball teams in Arizona and California. His son, Dennis, 11, also was active in the program. McEvoy, his wife, Mildred, and son, will move to Tucson.

GUNMEN FLEE

Holdup Resisted; 1 Killed, 3 Injured

WEST LOS ANGELES—UPI—"I should have given them the damned money."

Bank messenger Lawrence Robbins, 19, was near hysteria.

"It was all my fault. I was going to be a hero and I got somebody killed and all these people hurt."

Robbins tried to resist two Halloween-masked gunmen who robbed him of $12,000 in a bold daylight stickup yesterday. Four bystanders came to his aid.

The bandits killed one of the would-be helpers and wounded Robbins and three others, one critically. One victim may lose the sight of one eye.

The robbers fled in a stolen car found abandoned a short distance away.

Detectives said Robbins, of Santa Monica, was delivering the money to the More Discount Store when the bandits, wearing red and orange masks of old men, grabbed him outside the store in full view of customers and employees. He was shot in the left leg and pistol whipped as he grappled with the robbers.

Travis Keith, 24, assistant manager of the store, and Lyle Mason, 40, a clerk, ran to his assistance. Keith was shot to death and Mason wounded.

John Ringo, 38, a veteran West Los Angeles police officer, was in the store buying camping equipment. He sprinted outside when the shooting started. Shot in the lung, he was taken to Santa Monica Receiving Hospital in critical condition.

Robert Kirtz, 29, Culver City, also a customer, gave chase in his auto. He told police he attempted to pass the fleeing bandits when they suddenly slammed on the brakes.

"They stuck their guns out the window and fired at me. One of the bullets broke the windshield and hit me in the face."

Doctors said Kirtz, hospitalized with a bullet lodged in his head, may lose the sight of his left eye.

Catholics Open World Congress

MUNICH, Germany—UPI—Catholics from around the globe gathered here today almost within sight of the Iron Curtain for a week-long demonstration of the Christian brotherhood of man.

The 37th Eucharistic Congress opens tomorrow with a pontifical mass celebrated by Munich's Josef Cardinal Wendel.

It ends a week later when an estimated one million worshippers, including 28 cardinals and 430 bishops, celebrate a final Mass on the Resenwiese, one of the city's largest squares.

The worshippers will include priests and lay Catholics from most countries of the world except the Communist states of Europe and Asia and, possibly, Cuba.

The Communist East German regime yesterday dubbed the entire affair "an American cover-up for the activities of the Revanchists" of West Germany.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said in a special statement the Congress will mirror the solidarity and traditions of the Occident "which can be defended against the storms of the Bolsheviks successfully only if the free peoples of Europe overcome their nationalistic egoism and join together."

"In this fashion," Adenauer said, "they can develop the spiritual and material power which will enable them to assist the underdeveloped areas and peoples of Asia and Africa with love and in freedom and for the life of the world."

"For the Life of the World" (Pro Mundi Vita) is the slogan under which the congress, the third to be held in Germany, is meeting.

For their own reasons, the Communists apparently were preventing citizens of countries under their control from participating in the congress.

But tens of thousands of refugees from communism will be on hand, ranging from simple members of congregations to high church dignitaries in exile.
